Our Country

On primal rocks she wrote her name;
  Her towers were reared on holy graves;
The golden seed that bore her came
  Swift-winged with prayer o'er ocean waves.

The Forest bowed his solemn crest,
  And open flung his sylvan doors;
Meek Rivers led the appointed Guest
  To clasp the wide-embracing shores;

Till, fold by fold, the broidered land
  To swell her virgin vestments grew,
While Sages, strong in heart and hand,
  Her virtue's fiery girdle drew.

O Exile of the wrath of kings!
  O Pilgrim Ark of Liberty!
The refuge of divinest things,
  Their record must abide in thee!

First in the glories of thy front
  Let the crown-jewel Truth be found;
Thy right hand fling with generous wont,
  Love's happy chain to farthest bound!

Let Justice, with the faultless scales,
  Hold fast the worship of thy sons;
Thy Commerce spread her shining sails
  Where no dark tide of rapine runs!

So link thy ways to those of God,
  So follow firm the heavenly laws,
That stars may greet thee, warrior-browed,
  And storm-sped Angels hail thy cause!

O Land, the measure of our prayers,
  Hope of the world in grief and wrong,
Be thine the tribute of the years,
  The gift of Faith, the crown of Song!

Patriotism in East Tennessee

Andrew Jackson and the Armed Exiles from East Tennessee.

Andrew Jackson, of Tennessee, said in his speech at Columbus, recently, referring to a visit to Camp Dick Robinson:

The other day, when I stood in the presence of two thousand Tennesseeans, exiled, like myself, from their homes of comfort and the families of their love, I found that my manhood and sternness of mind were all nothing, and that I was only a child. There they were, my friends and fellow citizens of my beloved State, gathered upon the friendly soil of Kentucky, from the tender stripling of sixteen to the gray haired father of sixty, all mourning the evil that had befallen our land and our homes, but all seeking for arms to go back and drive the invader from our fields and hearth stones. I essayed to speak to them words of counsel and encouragement, but speech was denied me. I stood before them as one who was dumb. If it be true that out of the fullness of the heart the mouth speaketh, it also true that the heart may be too full for the utterance of speech. And such were ours—two thousand of us exiled Tennesseeans, and all silent! Silent as the city of the dead! But there was no torpor there. There were the bounding heart and the throbbing brain; there were the burning cheek and the flashing eye, all more eloquent than ever were the utterings of human speech. Each of that throng of exiles, who had wandered among the mountains and hid in their caverns, who had slept in the forest and squeezed themselves, one by one, through the pickets of the invader, each was now offering comfort and pledging fidelity to the other.—Youth and age were banding together in a holy alliance that will never yield till our country and our flag, our Government and our institutions are bathed in the sunlight of peace and consecrated by the baptism of patriotic blood. There were their homes, and there, too, is mine, right over there. And yet we are homeless—exiled! And why? Was it for crime? Had we violated any law? Had we offended the majesty of our Government or done wrong to any human being? Nay, none of these. Our fault and our only fault, was loving our country too well to permit its betrayal. And for this the remorseless agents of that "sum of all villanies," Secession, drove us from our families and firesides, and made us exiles and wanderers. But the time shall soon come when we wanderers will go home! Depend upon it my friends, this monstrous iniquity cannot long subsist. Some bolt of heaven's righteous vengeance, "red with uncommon wrath," will blast the traitors in their high estate! But whatever they may do—though they may ravage our State and make desolate our homes, though they convert the caves of our mountains into sepulchres, and turn our valleys and plains into grave yards, there is still one thing they cannot do—they never can, while God reigns, make East Tennessee a land of slaves!

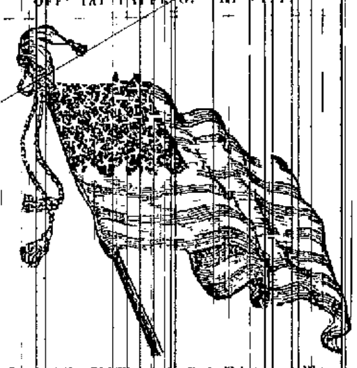
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.



No flag but the Old Flag—the Red White and Blue
With the stars of a Union under it and true
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV 20, 1861

THE NEWS.

The last two Eastern despatches were received by mail from Sacramento They furnish dates to the 11th November Our southern expedition had captured two rebel forts at Port Royal, South Carolina, also had taken of Beaufort, Port Royal Island. Beaufort was partially burnt while being captured The rebels were leaving the Potomac as fast as possible for the South A report was current at James River that Charleston was attacked on the 8th This is not improbable. Rebel regiments had been sent South from James river in great haste Our troops had gained a splendid victory at Belmont, Mo, some miles below Cairo The last accounts from Price left him fortifying himself near the Arkansas line. The election in Maryland is overwhelming for the Union. There was a manifest elongation of secession countenances in Portland yesterday

The Natural Allies of Secession

There are some animals who never fail of showing their ears We find the following in Stark's paper of Monday That paper says that it is from the Anti-slavery Standard—an abolition paper

"We condemned what we held to be immoral and wicked in the provisions of the Constitution, and proclaimed it to be the duty of every honest man to refuse to obey them. We affirmed it to be the duty of the free States to withdraw and be separated from the slave States or amend the Constitution. If we are thought worthy of death for all this we are ready to die with all dignity"

The reader will notice how exactly the abolitionists of the north, represented by the Anti slavery Standard agree in sentiment with the secessionists of the South. The abolitionists don't like the Constitution, and the secessionists don't like the Constitution. The abolitionists want the Union broken up, and the secessionists want the Union broken up The abolitionists, if necessary, want to die in the defense of their views, and the secessionists of the South declare themselves willing to die in defense of theirs.

From all which we gather the facts that in this rebellion the abolitionists are doing all they can to play into the hands of the secessionists—a fact of which there is no question.

Mr. Stark's paper thinks that the editor of the Standard should be sent to Lafayette, to sup from the same board with secession editors, and that his paper should be suspended. This will no doubt be done when the Anti-slavery Standard, in its insane ravings, shall rise above the dignity of contempt. When that time arrives the editor of Mr Stark's paper and his co-worker of the Anti Slavery Standard can go into close quarters together

WASHINGTON ON ARREST FOR TREASON—At the time of the Revolutionary War, General Washington wrote to Gov Trumbull, of Connecticut, in the following words. His language has been supposed by some to be capable of a modern application

"Would it not be prudent to seize those Tories who have been, are and we know will be active against us? Why should persons who are preying upon the vitals of the country be suffered to stalk about while we know they will do every mischief in their power"

A letter from Los Angeles, says that a man named Cheysnelt, a violent Secessionist was drinking with two soldiers when Cheysnelt proposed the health of Jeff Davis and Beauregard, and made some very offensive remarks One of the two soldiers knocked him on the head with the butt of his pistol—Marysville Appeal

Gov Whiteaker here selects the man who drinks the health of Beauregard for United States Senator

In Maine the Senate will stand 26 Republicans and 5 Union Democrats The House 2 Danites, 21 Union Democrats and 11[illegible] Republicans

[Danites—supposed to be [illegible]—led by late office holders ]

Next June Election

UNION MEN OF OREGON! If the effort of the Government to quell this heresy of Secession be not crowned with success during the Winter that is now upon us, the interests of humanity, right and liberty demand that the struggle be continued—and [illegible]

In that event it is of the highest importance how you [illegible] June of 1862. [illegible] place, the struggle is still undetermined, [illegible] enemies of our good and benificent Government will spare no exertion whatever to carry that election and enroll our young and prosperous State on the side of the rebellion; if not actively, then passively, which would be deplorable, and act as a great clog to the proper administration of our government according to the Constitution and the laws Already they have flooded the State with the emanations of the traitors, Breckenridge and Vallandingham, and other rebellious documents and these are eagerly seized upon and devoured by a large class of our voters and by them circulated and paraded with a zeal worthy of a better cause

The old name of Democracy will be prostituted to the advancement of evil ends A great many men who voted for the lamented Douglas, will be and have been approached with this argument—that the duty of the Democratic party is to oppose the acts of the Administration because that Administration is the result of the success of another party, and that the salvation of the country depends upon the reunion and triumph of the old Democracy No matter how incongruous and illogical such an argument will appear to a few far-seeing men, there are a great many Union loving and praise deserving ones who may swallow the sugar-coated pill probably more than many now suppose

Our opponents are organizing just as this rebellion has been organized, with the energy of despair and the cool covertness of comprehended danger. They will stake everything to win, because except they win everything is lost To pursue the comparison there is danger that one of their strongest points will be our apathy; that we will not realize their strength until the manifestation of it renders it too late There is danger that Union men will look upon their efforts as contemptible until at the counting of the votes we shall see its formidable front. There is a way to prevent this possible catastrophe That way should not be left untried because we do not fear the result too great faith in our strength may be our most invincible foe That way is to organize, and to organize now The old political wire pullers could learn as a lesson The people, as a mass, are disposed to do right—convince them that we are on the right side of this Union issue, convince them that there is and can be but one issue as long as this rebellion lasts; convince them that we are willing to forget all past differences and join with them in a brotherhood of patriotism, that we are, as we should be, willing to do anything that is honorable to secure the triumph of the right. Do this and all will be well, fail to do this, and the consequences may be most disastrous, and our only bitter consolation will be that we have deserved them Above all, as we have advised before, organize, and organize now The enemy are doing so in their peculiar underhanded manner To meet such an enemy our discipline and unity of purpose should be as effective as that of an enemy

How is it to be accomplished? That is a question easily answered If we err not the best and most practicable method would be the immediate formation of State Central Union Committees, with corresponding committees in and for every county in the State Let these committees throw down—for the present at least—old party lines, If a Republican or a Democrat demurs, let there be no indecision, no matter what his former position or influence may have been, but let all such understand from the first that no side issue will be allowed to retard this great Union movement: that those who are not for it are emphatically against it, that the question, "Government or anarchy," is not to be immolated at the shrine of any party Let these committees place in the hands of every voter the speeches of such men as Holt, Dickinson and Everett and other Union documents Let them seek out those honest men who are likely to be controlled by old party associations and try to get them to realize the true state of affairs, with the disgrace which may result to our State if they adhere to false advisers and pretended Union, but peace men

Then if before the election takes place the war is ended [illegible] and union restore [illegible] (as some [illegible] people [illegible]) and parties again begin to [illegible] little side issues, and to define hair splitting principles, [illegible] respectfully submit, [illegible] our State to have a set of Union officers for its rulers until the period of another election

CIRCUIT COURT.—Sarah [illegible] Wilson vs [illegible] Wilson—Petition [illegible] Divorce [illegible]

The case of the State [illegible] for obstructing [illegible] and submitted to the Jury [illegible] Verdict [illegible] guilty.

State of Oregon vs [illegible] County—[illegible] alleged to be due [illegible] 1860, retained by County [illegible] for collecting State tax. [illegible] by the Court that the State is not bound to allow Commissioners—that the State tax is to be collected at the expense of the County.

State of Oregon vs F Patterson—Indictment for the murder of Capt Staples—Messrs. Logan, Farrar, Gartter and Mccraw for the defense, and Messrs Page and Mitchell for the State. A number of [illegible] witnesses were examined in this case beside those who testified at preliminary trial. The empannelling of the Jury was commenced, and the usual challenges put to the jurors, quite a number were excused from serving. At the adjournment of Court last night the following jurors had been obtained: Manuel Hummer, Dr. Hartley, J H Holman, Wm B Jones, K. Thomas, J. Olson.

THE GRAND JURY.—This arm of the Court concluded their labors for the term yesterday, and were discharged. They state that during an eight day session they investigated [illegible] cases, of which they found eleven true bills; they also make the usual report in regard to the condition of the public prisons. Speaking of the Penitentiary they say: "We censure the practice of allowing the convicts to run at large, and as being placed as guard over others. It is unjust to the community and calculated to make culprits regard the punishment as merely nominal, and contrary to the sentence of the Court. We hope it will not be allowed hereafter."

STABBED.—Two school boys got into a fight on the playground, yesterday afternoon, when one stabbed the other in the shoulder with a pocket knife.

The Pacific arrived here from Victoria full of passengers. Some of our citizens who wished to go San Francisco, could not be received.

FOR WASHINGTON.—Benj Stark, U. S. Senator appointed by Governor Whiteaker, sailed in the steamer last night.

SHIPMENT OF GOLD DUST.—The Pacific took away $50,000 in gold dust, last night.

SAILED.—The steamer Pacific sailed last night for San Francisco. She had about two hundred tons freight, consisting of about forty [illegible] hundred boxes apples, and the balance in military stores.

Five companies soldiers, belonging to the [illegible] infantry, sailed on the Pacific last night.

FOR THE UNION.—The soldiers who sailed on the Pacific last night gave three hearty cheers for the Stars and Stripes, as the steamer left the wharf.

PUNISHED FOR HIS TEMERITY.—Mr McMillen, who lives on a prairie farm in Washington county, some distance from timber, found his Golden Russet apples taken off in a very mysterious manner. He lost some twenty five bushels. Watching closely, he came to the conclusion that the thief was a bear, and he set a spring gun to put a stop to his depredations. In the night the gun was discharged, and the next day he found his bearship dead within some twelve rods of the theatre of his depredations. The fellow was an old one, fat and fine, weighing three hundred pounds, or more.

Senator Stark has said we have no Government. If he should get into La Fayette, he would probably change his mind.

To Scrip Owners.

Scrip owners will be interested in the following note from Charles M Carter Esq:

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct 15, 1861.

Editor Oregonian:

I am in possession of several letters from various scrip owners, desiring information as to the time bonds would issue on their scrip. The 3d Auditor told me yesterday that they had so much scrip on hand, and the [illegible] business was so pressing, that it would be impossible for them to take up the scrip [illegible] to me, before the middle of December or the 1st of January. So you see I will be compelled to be patient. We cannot hurry the Treasury Department one minute. Others who come in after me will be compelled to wait eight months, and perhaps one year.

Yours, CHAS M CARTER.

IMPORTANT FROM THE CHEROKEE NATION.—Two men, who arrived at Rolla on Saturday, report that about two weeks ago [illegible] the Cherokee Chief, had rallied 8,000 [illegible] about him, and declared for the Union. [illegible] an influential halfbreed and a Secessionist had raised the standard of revolt, and had had a skirmish near Tahlequah with Ross' body guard. Ross was victorious. This information is in conflict with recent reports that Ross and the whole Nation had declared for Secession, but we are assured by one of the Government scouts, now in this city, who knows all about the Southwest, that it is reliable.

Variety.

Every member of the human family has certainly a very large family connection.

The country is lyric—the town dramatic. When mingled, they make the most perfect musical drama.

An English writer says that Arkwright wrote his name upon the streams. We don't see how he could; streams are not stationery.

The laws, according to Cicero, are silent amid arms; but, alas, lawyers are silent neither in war nor peace.

Those who heed not God's writ are often forced to heed the sheriff's.

Women never truly command till they have given their promise to obey.

Some people are so obtuse that one would hardly think they could have an acute disease.

If sleep flies from you, don't go in hot pursuit of it; lie still, and it will probably come and kiss you.

A prophet is said to be often without honor, and perhaps honor is quite as often without profit.

A girl at a party in town the other evening, was asked what made her cheeks so unusually red; she replied, the chaps.

The proud have no friends; not in prosperity, for then they know nobody; not in adversity, for then nobody knows them.

Pliny speaks of certain animals that will fatten on smoke. How lucky would it be for sundry eloquent statesmen, if they could get man to do so.

Time is like a creditor who allows ample space to make up accounts, but is inexorable at last.

God's mercies are like a large chain, every link leads to another; present mercies assure you of future ones.

Whatever is necessary to be done can be done. Nature is too wise and beneficent to yoke necessity with impossibility.

the skin, eyes, throat and lungs, entailing upon them a brief existence of suffering, and consigning them to an early grave.

Self-abuse is another formidable enemy to health, for nothing else in the dread catalogue of human diseases causes so destructive a drain upon the system—drawing its thousands of victims through a few years of suffering down to an untimely grave. It destroys the nervous system, rapidly wastes away the energies of life, causes mental derangement, prevents the proper development of the system, disqualifies for marriage, society, business, and all earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, [illegible] and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself. With the fullest confidence I assure the unfortunate victims of self-abuse, that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected, and with the abandonment of ruinous practices my patients can be restored to robust, vigorous health.

Remarkable Instance of Medical Relief.

The demands of society [illegible] to their publicity, and we commend their perusal to the attention of all afflicted:

[illegible] The most earnest desirous of acquainting those who may be unfortunate enough to be similarly afflicted where a permanent relief of their sufferings may be obtained, [illegible] publicly express his most sincere gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay, for the recovery of his health. Borne down by the distressing symptoms incident to the vicious practices of uncontrollable passion [illegible] depressed in body and mind, unable to perform even the most trifling duty imposed upon the ordinary avocations of life, I sought the advice of many physicians, who at first regarded my disease as of trifling importance—but alas, after a few weeks, and in several instances, months of their treatment, I found, to my unspeakable horror, that instead of relief, my symptoms became more alarming in their nature; and being told by one that my disease being principally confined to the brain, medicine would be of little consequence, I despaired of ever regaining my health, strength, and energy; and as a last resort, and with but a faint hope, called upon Dr. Czapkay, who after examining my case, prescribed some medicine which almost instantly relieved me of the dull pain and dizziness in my head. Encouraged by the result I resolved to place myself immediately under his care, and by a strict obedience to all his directions and advice, my head became clear, and my ideas collected, the constant pain in my back and groins, the weakness of my limbs, the nervous reaction of my whole body on the slightest alarm of excitement, the misanthropy and evil forebodings, the self distrust and want of confidence in others, the incapability to study, and want of resolution, the frightful exciting and at times pleasurable dreams at night, followed by involuntary discharges, have all disappeared, and in fact, in two months after having consulted the Doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life—that life which but a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand. With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience, that once under his care a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the last of your medicine and do not think I shall need any more, as I feel very well, except that I have not entirely got my strength yet, but soon will with the appetite I have. It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since I left your Institute with my constitution as I thought broken entirely, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but thought you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves so that I would not get excited and tremble at everything. Now that you know what I expected, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from the symptoms, and the removal of those sores and blotches from my skin, and the ulcers from my throat, and the complete stoppage of those emissions, which you said were principally the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest, my joy or my surprise, for except not having fully got my strength, I feel as well as any man can feel.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your charge, and thank myself cheaply cured. If you think anybody will be benefited, you may put this letter in the newspapers. I [illegible] gratefully yours. THOMAS [illegible]

I was frequently while in pursuit of my [illegible] thrown down to the ground without the slightest [illegible] and though [illegible] agonies, I yet dreaded [illegible] [illegible] learned to look upon those [illegible] [illegible] shelter me from danger [illegible] the existence of my [illegible]. While in this state and having previous to my [illegible] [illegible] I once more was induced to [illegible] seeking aid of a physician, and, by recommendation, [illegible] Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my [illegible] [illegible] reward him for his services [illegible] of which [illegible] undertook my case, and [illegible] [illegible] was once more restored to [illegible] health. [illegible] the boon which [illegible] [illegible] indebtedness [illegible] [illegible] make the case [illegible] [illegible] advice may find a [illegible] [illegible] placed.
